About the Workshop

Human rights are the basic rights available to every person. These rights are enshrined as the fundamental rights in our constitution. The Supreme Court is the protector of human rights in our country. Among the fundamental rights, two of the most important rights are equality and liberty. With the recent landmark judgements of the Supreme Court the concept of human rights is gaining momentum. In the recent Judgements it is evident that Supreme Court is keen on protection of human rights and providing justice in cases of violation. At this juncture, the workshop aims at highlighting the key issues in relation to protection of human rights and the role of Supreme Court in providing justice with special reference to recent judgements.

The Sub-Themes of the workshop include the following areas

1. Human Rights and Conceptual Analysis
