

DR. C. SRINIVASULU

M.Sc., Ph.D., FLS, FZS

Professor of Zoology

Dr. C. Srinivasulu, heads the Wildlife Biology and Taxonomy Lab and has served as the curator of the Natural History Museum of Department of Zoology, Osmania University. His field of expertise is wildlife biology and taxonomy. His doctoral and post doctoral research was funded by CSIR. After serving briefly in University of Delhi, he joined the University service in 2007. He served as Public & Relation Officer, Coordinator IQAC, OU, Founder Director, Osmania Technology Business Incubator. He is currently serving as the Director, Centre for Biodiversity and Conservation Studies, Osmania University, and Director, Gardens & Green Belt, Osmania University. He has to his credit >150 peer-reviewed papers with Impact Factors ranging from 0.90 – 37.20 with a major publication in SCIENCE (Impact factor: 37.20) and >150 online resources. He is a trained IUCN database modeler, and has contributed to the IUCN Red Listing process of global amphibian, global reptile and global mammal species. He has to his credit 14 books of which his recent book, 'Birds of the Indian Subcontinent – Their Scientific Names Explained', was published in 2022. He is a member of Viper Specialist is a member of conservation planning specialist Group (CPSG-IUCN/SSC), and Bat Specialist Group (BSG-IUCN/SSC). He is an elected fellow of Linnean Society of London, UK and Zoological Society of London, UK. Eleven research scholars have been awarded Ph.D. degrees and four more are pursuing their Ph.D. research under his guidance. He has executed four major and two minor research projects funded by DST, SERB, DBT, UGC, TSBB and BCI and is currently executing DST-SERB funded research project. He presented invited lectures, keynote addresses and popular talks in various Academic Staff Colleges and has conducted numerous national and international workshops, seminars and conferences.